ABSTRACT

This compilation of government publications related to the development of the Copyright Law of 1976 includes Copyright Office Studies, legislative reports from both houses of Congress, legislative hearings, and public laws. Preliminary studies, which were begun in 1955 as the first step in the revision of the U.S. Copyright Law, are listed in the first section. Congressional reports and laws are presented in chronological order, subdivided by house of Congress and committee. Reports and laws extending the previous copyright law until the 1976 revision took effect are at the end.

This bibliography is a compilation of government publications related to the development of the Copyright Law of 1976. The law was developed and implemented between 1955 and 1978. The bibliography contains: Copyright Office Studies, Legislative Reports from both houses of Congress, legislative hearings, and public laws.

The bibliography is arranged such that the preliminary studies are found first, the Congressional session is chronologically arranged by Congress and session, subdivided by house of Congress, and further subdivided by committee. The duration extension reports and laws are at the end. These extensions of the previous Copyright Law until the Copyright Law of 1976 took effect were both numerous and routine housekeeping matters.

The entries were drawn from the Monthly Catalog, Congressional Information Service Abstracts and Index, U.S. Code Congressional and Administrative News, and Dr. Jerome K. Miller's personal collection. I would like to thank Dr. Miller, of the University of Illinois Graduate School of Library Science, for instilling my interest in copyright law and for his advice and encouragement while I was compiling the bibliography.
